

Internet Filtering

Don't leave yourself susceptible to potential viruses via the internet - Venom IT will mitigate all risks by rigorously assessing and protecting your software and machines.

We will guarantee you protection from the risks of viruses with our internet filtering services

With the advancement of the internet, information can be acquired effortlessly and data can be gathered in just a few clicks.

Unfortunately you are now more susceptible than ever to potential risks, such as viruses, that can put your data in danger.

From inhibiting the use of your computers to distributing personal data about you and your employees that could be used to scam you, Viruses can have a seriously negative impact on your Business.

It's therefore vital that you have an email protection and internet security plan in place to protect you from the risks.

With Venom IT's fully tried and tested internet-filtering solution, you can be protected against spam and viruses without having to download any software. This means that you can access your account using different devices and be confident that anything potentially harmful has already been removed before you access your emails. Emails that are flagged will be quarantined so you can still reinstate them once you are sure that they're trustworthy.

Put your trust in Venom IT and we will guarantee you protection from the risks of viruses with our internet filtering services.
